

2013-2014 Undergraduate Scholarship Winners

Name	School	Hometown	Major	Award
Stephanie Verhoff	The Ohio State University	Columbus Grove	Sustainable Plant Systems	$5,000 * Bhima Vijayendran Scholarship
Stacie Seger	The Ohio State University	Fort Loramie	Agricultural Communication	$3,000 * Farmer, Lumpe + McClelland Scholarship
Emily Limes	The Ohio State University	Bowling Green	Agribusiness and Applied Economics	$3,000
Mike Hannewald	The Ohio State University	Waterville	Sustainable Plant Systems	$3,000
Shelby Mann	Wilmington College	Jackson Center	Agronomy	$3,000
John Schoenhals	The Ohio State University	Archbold	Plant Pathology	$3,000

2013-2014 Graduate Scholarship Winners

- Rhiannon Schneider ($5,000) of Grafton, Ohio is pursuing a master's degree in crop breeding and genetics at The Ohio State University. She currently performs research in the soybean breeding and soybean pathology labs. Rhiannon is conducting research to increase soybean yields through the improvement of gene resistance to pests, diseases, and other environmental factors.
- Nicholas Callow ($5,000) of Girard, Ohio is pursuing a doctorate of engineering in chemical engineering at the University of Akron. He is a graduate assistant conducting research to produce low cost enzymes for use in making high-value soy products. The utilization of these enzymes, through the application of cost improving pellet technology, will improve and diversify the soybean industry.